The governor shall reside in said territory; shall be commander-in-chief of the militia; and shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs. He may grant pardons for offenses against laws of said territory, and reprieves for offenses against laws of the United States, until the decision of the President can be made known thereon. He shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of said territory, and see that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall, from time to time, inform the Legislative Assembly of the condition of the territory, and shall recommend all necessary measures, and may convene them on extraordinary occasions by proclamation, stating the purpose for which they were convened.

Sec. 2. That there shall be a secretary of said territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States. He shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the Legislative Assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department. He shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings; on or before the 1st day of December in each year, to the President of the United States; and at the same time, two copies of the laws to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate, for the use of Congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation, or necessary absence of the governor from the territory, the secretary shall be, and he is hereby, authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence, or until another governor shall be duly appointed to fill such vacancy.

Sec. 4. No person shall be eligible to the Legislative Council who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, who shall not be a free male citizen of the territory of New Mexico, and who shall not have been an inhabitant of the district which he may be chosen to represent at least six months preceding his election, if such district shall be so long established; but if not, then of the district or districts from which the same may have been taken.

Sec. 6. The General Assembly shall divide the territory into a convenient number of counties, and shall apportion the members of the House of Representatives among the same, according to the free male population, but the whole number of its members shall never exceed twenty-one, until otherwise directed by the Legislative Assembly.

Sec. 7. Until the legislative power otherwise direct, the territory of New Mexico shall retain the division of counties and districts established by the decree of the department of New Mexico, of June 17, 1849; and they shall be represented as follows: In the House of Representatives, the county of Santa Fe shall have three members; the county of Rio Arriba, three; the county of Valencia, five; the county of Taos, three; the county of Santa Ana, two; the county of Bernalillo, two.

Provided, That the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by the citizens of the United States, and all those free white male inhabitants residing within the limits of New Mexico, not already citizens of the United States, but who, on the 2d day of February, 1848, were residents within the territory of New Mexico; and such persons taking an oath or affirmation before the superior or circuit courts of the territory, or before the circuit or district court of the United States, to renounce

If he approve the same, he shall sign it. If he disapprove the same, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it originated, within six days.

Sec. 13. That House shall cause the objections to be entered at large upon its journal, and shall reconsider the bill. If, after a bill shall have been returned, and reconsidered by both Houses, it shall again pass by a vote of two-thirds of each House, it shall become a law without the approval of the governor.

If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within six days after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it; unless the Legislative Assembly, by adjournment, prevent it.

Sec. 14. Each House of the Legislative Assembly shall judge of the elective qualifications of its members, and make its own rules of proceedings.

Sec. 15. No person who now is, or hereafter may be, a collector or holder of public money, or assistant or deputy thereof, shall be eligible to any office of profit or trust, until he shall have accounted for, and paid over all moneys for which he may be accountable as such collector or holder; and no person who shall have directly or indirectly given any bribe to procure his election or appointment to any office, or who shall have been convicted of perjury or other infamous crime, shall be eligible to any office of honor, profit, or trust within this territory, or shall be allowed the right of suffrage.

cisions of said supreme court shall be allowed, and may be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit court of the United States, when the value of the property or the amount of the controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witnesses, shall exceed the sum of one thousand dollars.

Sec. 5. And each of said circuit courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; and the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under said constitution and laws; and writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the supreme court of said territory the same as in other cases.

DOCUMENT NO. 10.

The people of New Mexico, through their representatives assembled in convention, held in Santa Fe, give the following instructions to the delegate elect (Hugh N. Smith) to the Congress of the United States:

1st. That these instructions be strictly followed, and the matters herein set forth without deviation, by said delegate.

2d. That, in case a territorial government may be obtained, he shall prefer it to a state government, and shall take for his grounds the late act constituting the people of Minnesota into a territorial government, and shall insist upon provisions at least as favorable.

3d. That we shall have incorporated into the ordinance constituting a territorial government, the following provisions:

That the rights of citizenship be conferred on all free white male inhabitants residing within the limits of this territory, not already citizens of the United States, but who, on the 2d day of February, 1848, were residents within the territory of New Mexico; on such persons taking an oath, or affirmation, before the superior or circuit court of the territory, or before the circuit or district court of the United States, to renounce and abjure every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, whatever.

4th. That he insist upon the establishment of a judiciary by the constitution of four judges, one to be supreme or appellate judge, and the other three to be district judges, for the hearing and adjudication of law cases, and associates of the supreme judge in all cases of appeal, and the judge who tried the case shall not be allowed to sit in the appellate court.

5th. That he shall resist the constitution of a territorial government, unless the making of laws for our government are confined to a general assembly, to consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

6th. That he shall define the boundaries of New Mexico as follows: Bounded north by the Indian Territory; west by California; south by the boundary line between Mexico and the United States; and east by the state of Texas.

7th. That said delegate shall urge the establishment of a branch of the mint of the United States in New Mexico.

8th. That he shall insist upon the permanent establishment of two regiments of troops within the territory.

9th. That one of said regiments shall be raised, organized, and officered within this territory,, and constituted of the sturdy mountaineers and native citizens.

10th. That he shall have inserted in said constitution a provision which shall secure the compliance with contracts between master and servant, according to the intent of the parties.

11th. That he shall urge the establishment of a fort in the heart of the Navajo country, to protect the people against the incursions and robberies of this formidable and marauding Indian tribe.

12th. That he shall have inserted in said constitution, a provision to protect the people against unjust or malicious litigation, and securing to all persons who have a possession of land, or real estate, for twenty years, without interruption, a full and indefeasible title.

13th. But in case the obtention of a territorial government be not feasible, but that of a state government be practicable, he shall accept one, and proceed to its organization; taking for his model the present constitution of Missouri, so far as the same is applicable to our condition, and adhering strictly as may be to its provisions, under the following conditions:

1st. That the Congress of the United States shall extend the same liberality towards us that she has to all the new states.

2d. That, as our public lands are comparatively worthless, and the grant of 500,000 acres be impracticable, that said delegate insist on an equivalent in money, or at least, that the United States pay us annually $30,000 for the period of ten years, for the purpose of sustaining such government.

3d. That all the public lands within our limits, unless mineral lands and salines, be devoted to the territory for school purposes, to be disposed of and applied by the state legislature.

4th. That the five per cent and two per cent given by Congress to the states, be also donated to New Mexico.

5th. That liberal applications be made for the establishment of colleges and common schools, and suitable institutions for the promotion of the arts and sciences.

Instructions as Adopted by the Convention.

We, the people of New Mexico, in convention assembled, having elected a delegate to represent this territory in the Congress of the United States, and to urge upon the supreme government a redress of our grievances, and the protection due to us as citizens of our common country, under the constitution, instruct him as follows: That whereas, for the last three years, we have suffered under the paralyzing effects of a government undefined and doubtful in its character, inefficient to protect the rights of the people, or to discharge the high and absolute duty of every government, the enforcement and regular administration of its own laws, in consequence of which, industry and enterprise are paralyzed, and discontent and confusion prevail throughout the land; the want of proper protection against the various barbarous tribes of Indians that surround us on every side, has prevented the extension of settlements upon our valuable public domain, and rendered utterly futile every attempt to explore or develop the great resources of the territory: surrounded by the Eutaws, Comanches, and Apaches, on the north, east, and south, by the Navajos on the west, with Jicarillas within our limits, and without any adequate protection against their hostile inroads; our flocks and herds are driven off by thousands, our fellow-citizens, men, women and children are murdered or carried into captivity; many of our citizens of all ages and sexes are at this moment suffering all the horrors of barbarian bondage, and it is utterly out of our power to obtain their release from a condition to which death would be preferable; the wealth of our territory is being diminished; we have neither the means nor any adopted plan by government for the education of the rising generation: in fine, with a government temporary, doubtful, uncertain, and inefficient in character and in operation, surrounded and despoiled by barbarous foes, ruin appears inevitably before us, unless speedy and effectual protection be extended to us by the Congress of the United States: Therefore it is

Resolved, That our delegate to Congress is hereby instructed to urge impressively upon the government the necessity of a properly organized and efficient military force, competent in numbers to the entire subjection of our Indian enemies: that a part of said force should consist of a regiment of mounted rangers, levied from this territory.

Resolved, That he urge upon Congress the imperative necessity for the establishment of a sufficient fund or resource for the education of the people; that all salines of salt lakes be placed in possession of the territorial government for the free use and benefit of the people.

Resolved, That he ask the necessary appropriations from Congress for the erection of territorial and county buildings; for a library at the capital for the use of the government; for the erection of public highways; and the extension of post roads throughout the territory.

Resolved, That he ask of Congress the appointment of suitable persons of capacity and practical knowledge, with necessary appropriations, to effect a careful geological survey of the territory.

Resolved, That he ask the insertion of a clause in the constitution of the territory protecting the people in their religious rights as Catholics, and prohibiting all possibility of the interference of either military or civil tribunals with the rights and privileges of the Catholic church;

That he shall define the boundaries of New Mexico as follows: Bounded north by the Indian Territory, west by California, south by the boundary line between Mexico and the United States, and east by the state of Texas.

That he shall insist upon the permanent establishment of two regiments of troops within the territory;

That one of said regiments shall be raised, organized, and officered within this territory, and constituted of the hardy mountaineers and native citizens.

That he shall have inserted in said constitution a provision which shall secure the compliance with contracts between master and servant, according to the intent of the parties.

That he shall urge the establishment of a fort in the heart of that Navajo country, to protect the people against the incursions and robberies of this formidable and marauding Indian tribe.

That he shall have inserted in said constitution a provision to protect the people against unjust or malevolent litigation, and securing to all persons who have a possession of land or real estate, for twenty years without interruption, a full and indefeasible title.

That the laws of Mexico, heretofore in force, regarding the mineral lands and the working of mines, be continued in force, by making a constitutional provision to that effect.

ANTONIO JOSE MARTINEZ, President.
